

11th Leibniz Center Infection Symposium 2022

„Epigenetics & Memory in Infection & Immunity“

Due to the ongoing dynamic pandemic and unpredictability of its further development, the symposium will be held as an online event with the possibility of digital exchange for speakers and audience.

For participation, please register here by January 14, 2022:

<https://www.lc-infection.de/de/lci-symposium-2022.html>

As a registered participant, you will receive the event links by email in time for the start of the symposium. The symposium is certified with 16 points by the General Medical Council.